Gemstone Lore

My trees are heavy with fruit, my heart is full of all desires, and my wife gives birth to a holy child. What do I have?

Answers: Agate, Carnelian, Quartz

I am old and my hearing fails me, I am ill and wonder when death will come for me, my mouth is dry. What would you give me?

Answers: Amber, Opal, Quartz

I must go to battle where I may well be wounded. Then I will know great thirst and my eyes will burn.

Answers: Sapphire, Lapis Lazuli, Quartz

Sadness weighs upon my soul. My heart aches to be filled. Would that I could steal into my love's chamber unseen. Answers: Agate, Opal, Carnelian

The drought lengthens, the corn withers in my field, and a witch curses me with a glance. What would you give me?

Answers: Agate, Lapis Lazuli, Jet

I must ride upon a fiery horse, through valleys filled with adders and seek the fate that awaits me. What would I take with me?

Answers: Turquoise, Sapphire, Jet

I have three fears: I fear travelling by ship; I fear my wife will be unfaithful; I fear the lies of men. What should I take with me?

Answers: Agate, Lapis Lazuli, Sapphire

In summer, my ice does not melt. The red eye becomes clear. Demons run when I raise my hand. What do I have?

Answers: Sapphire, Lapis Lazuli, Jet

Alas, a sadness clothes me like a leaden cloak. A wicked woman lies to me, but I fear danger upon me by surprise. What would you give me?

Answers: Agate, Turquoise, Amber

I will seek out the devil where he lies and I will cross many seas to do so. Then I shall blast him with fire from heaven.

Answers: Agate, Lapis Lazuli, Jet

Demons dance to my call. I am a thief no one can catch. No sharp blade worries me. What do I have?

Answers: Carnelian, Opal, Jet

I would comfort a friend who is ill and fears that death will come upon him without warning. But if death should come, let my gifts guide him beyond demon's reach and to new life. What should I give him?

Answers: Carnelian, Jet, Opal
